Blood Poison THE BANE OF HUMAN LIFE,

Driven Out of the System by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I was a great sufferer from a most persistent blood disease, none of the various medicines I took being of any help whatever. Hoping that change of climate would benefit me, I went to Cuba, to Florida, and then to Saratoga Springs, where I remained some time drinking the waters. But all was no use. At last, being advised by several friends to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I began taking it, and very soon favorable results were manifest. To-day I consider myself a perfectly healthy man, with a good appetite and not the least trace of my former complaint. To all my friends, and especially young men like myself, I recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla, if in need of a perfectly reliable blood-purifier."—JOS. A. THE AUTOGRAPH COLLECTOR.

Walter Besant Encountered a Man Curiously Amiable and Obliging.

"We were talking of the autograph collectors," writes Mr. Walter Besant, "and I told this story. A certain collector—a lady—asked me to get her an autograph letter of Professor F. G., a friend of my own. I agreed to ask him for his signature at least. But the great man proved curiously amiable. He very kindly said: 'I will give you for your friend not only my signature, but also an autograph letter.'"

"He sat down and wrote that letter, which he gave me. I read it, and thanked him without a smile. At certain supreme moments one has complete command of both muscles and nerves. The letter ran as follows: 'I am pleased to be able to give the applicant, named, I believe, Walter Besant, a testimonial of personal character. I would give him many testimonials if I could get a permanent income for a persistent borrower. I have known him for some years. He is frequently sober, sometimes respectful, well-mannered when he pleases, and has never been found out, so far as I know, in any dishonesty. How far he may be trusted with other people's money those who know him better than myself will be able to speak.'"

"For my own part, I have never trusted him farther than I could see him. He is said to gamble habitually, but I do not state this of personal knowledge, because I should decline to play with him even if he were to invite me. The little difficulty of the right bower up his coat sleeves at a recent race meeting was, he says, satisfactorily disposed of. He does not, as a rule, spend more than twice his wages—without counting the ticks, which he never pays. I believe that it is not true, as has been alleged, that he has a wife in every colonial port. He cannot do anything practical or useful, but he has a pretty wit, and has lampooned several respectable gentlemen into the grave."

"In blackmailing he is a past master. It is not true that he has been frequently horsewhipped, but I know for a fact that several persons who at various times have set out for the purpose of horsewhipping him have returned on shutters. He is a most earnest, whole-souled gentleman, whose appointment to the post which he seeks—that of window cleaner to the workhouse—will give the greatest satisfaction to all those who at present have to lend him half crowns on application to keep him going."

The Tragedy of Two Lives.

The life work of Farmer Millsap's wife was over. Like a head of wheat fully ripe, she was about to be gathered in by the grim harvester.

"Obadiah," she said in feeble voice as the end drew near peacefully and painlessly, "you have been a good husband to me."

"I have tried to be, Lucindy," replied Farmer Millsap.

"You have laid yourself out to make things easy and comfortable like for me."

"I have always tried to do my sheer, Lucindy."

"Obadiah," she went on, "we've lived together 35 years, hasn't we?"

"We have."

"You've ever since we were married you've eat all the bread crusts, hasn't you?"

"I won't deny it, Lucindy, I have."

"You've eat the crusts for 35 years, so I wouldn't have to eat them, hasn't you, Obadiah?"

"I don't deny it, Lucindy."

"Obadiah," said Farmer Millsap's wife after a pause, "it was very kind of you. And now you won't mind me telling you one thing, will you?"

"No. What is it, Lucindy?"

"Obadiah," and there was a world of self abnegation in her voice, "I always was fond of crusts."—Chicago Tribune.

Holes in the Legs.

A scientist tells us that hogs' legs perform a function not known to any other animal, and that is an escape pipe or pipes for the discharge of waste water or sweat not used in the economy of the body. These escape pipes are situated upon the inside of the legs, above and below the knee in the fore legs and above the gambrel joints in the hind legs, but in the latter they are very small and function light. Upon the inside of the fore leg, they are in the healthy hog always active, so that moisture is always there from about or below these orifices or ducts in the healthy hog. The holes in the leg and breathing in the hog are his principal and only means of ejecting an excess of heat above the normal, and when very warm the hog will open the mouth and breathe through that channel as well as the nostrils.

People Who Live on Ducks.

It is stated that there are more ducks in China than in all the world outside of it. They are kept on every farm, in the private roads and on the lakes, rivers and smaller streams. There are boats on which as many as 2,000 ducks are kept. Their eggs constitute one of the most important articles of food. They are hatched in establishments fitted up for the purpose. Some of them turn out as many as 50,000 young ducks every year. Salted and smoked ducks are sold in all the towns.—Popular Magazine.

AMATEUR STRONG MEN.

Herman Oelrichs Stronger Than Sandow. William Steinway a Giant.

I know of four men who do not pose as sons of Hercules, and who never made a penny by spectacular exhibitions, who, I think, could hold their own with the quartet of foreign invaders, Sandow, Samson, Atilla and Romulus, in trials of strength. These men are Herman Oelrichs, principal owner of the North German Lloyd Steamship company; Tea Merchant Harry Buermeyer, Editor William B. Curtis and Piano Manufacturer William Steinway. Of these Herman Oelrichs, millionaire and clubman, is the strongest, and stronger, I firmly believe, than Sandow or any of the other professional strong men.

Two of these men, too, could come very near to giving Corbett or Jackson a trouncing in the squared circle—Oelrichs and Buermeyer. Both of these gentlemen were adjudged by competent experts fully capable of holding their own, even with the mighty John L. Sullivan when that renowned gladiator was in his prime. If they could do this with Corbett and Jackson, they might do a shade better with the Californian or Australian. Of this "big four," as I will call them, three—Oelrichs, Buermeyer and Curtis—were and are as good all around heavy weight athletes as this or any other country has ever seen. The fourth, Steinway, despite his 48 years, can perform downright feats of strength—not juggling tricks—that any of the professional strong men would find it hard to duplicate.

Once, on a wager with friends at a private trial, Oelrichs entered a lion's cage, and properly accounted for the fray, of course, actually overcame and reduced to a state of exhaustion by his physical resources a full grown monarch of the jungle. The lion was muzzled with a plain leather strap, but was not hampered in any other way. Oelrichs thus did better than Sandow, who only dared recently to try with a tame and crippled old lion at San Francisco.

When John L. Sullivan was in his prime 10 years ago, knocking out men nightly in four rounds on his exhibition tours, Oelrichs offered to meet the great Bostonian in private and give him $10,000 if he (Oelrichs) did not best him. Sullivan was not one whit afraid, but as he was making $100,000 a year just then he listened to the voice of his manager, the famous sportsman, Al Smith, and determined to take no chances, much to Oelrichs' chagrin.

Father Bill Curtis and Buermeyer rank next to Oelrichs as strong men. Another "strong man" in private life is Giovanni P. Morosini. In early life he was a sailor before the mast. He is over 50 years of age, yet he is a perfect Hercules in strength.—William Standish Hayes in Bowling and Cycling Gazette.

They Were All Off.

There was a man going up the east side of Brush street the other day as another man was coming down on the west side on the same block. Both had their heads down and looked mad. As they came opposite they halted and looked at each other, and pretty soon the east side man growled out:

"I can punch your blamed head in just one minute."

"And I can knock yours off in half a minute," replied the other.

"Don't stand there looking at me, but go on."

"I'll go on when I get ready."

Just then a policeman came out of the alley and took in the situation and asked:

"Now, then, what's the matter here?"

"Why," said the east side man, "I was coming along here with the toothache and that galoot looked at me so mean that I was just going to punch his head."

"And I was coming along with a splitting old headache," added the other, "and that feller stuck out his tongue and come near being smashed for it."

"Gentlemen," said the officer as he spat on his hand and drew his club, "I've got three corners on the right foot and four on the left, and all are aching like 60 miles an hour. If you both don't get up'n fly, I'll run you in and swear you up for three months."—Detroit Free Press.

Garnet's Proof.

Professor Garnet, the famous student of the so-called simian language, is firmly convinced that physically the quadrumanus are closely allied to man. "If there were any doubt of this," he said one day, "it would be dissipated by the fact that the female gorillas do ten times more talking than the males. Indeed," he added laughingly, "when the female monkeys become excited and express themselves with indignant fluency the males sit by and scratch their heads, looking as if they had forgotten every word in their limited vocabulary."

The Round Bar.

Saloonists are freely adopting the round or square bar idea. The drink dispensary is in the center of the floor, canopied in several places by unique and eye pleasing decorative notions of various designs. One or two popular cases show umbrella-like ceilings of glassware so arranged as to give a picturesque effect. Napkins go with all 10 cent potations in nearly all the well patronized places.—New York Letter.

SUICIDED.

A Former Well-Known Citizen of Sonoma Drowns Himself.

A dispatch from Portland, Or., says that the dead body of J. J. Wyttyrk was found floating in the Columbia river, near Vancouver, last Wednesday evening.

Jake, as he was familiarly called by his friends and acquaintances, was for several years a clerk in the Union Hotel in this place when kept by Henry Baschen. He was a genial, whole-souled fellow and during his stay here was the life of the town.

About five years ago he went to Santa Rosa and for a year or two was a clerk in King's grocery store in that city. He then went to Portland and assumed the management of a large grocery establishment. The dispatch tells the cause of Jake's taking his own life as follows: "Wyttyrk claimed to have been a soldier in the Franco-Prussian war and always wore conspicuously an iron cross which he said had been conferred on him for gallantry on the field of battle. He became a leading member of various German societies and Treasurer of the Krieger-Verein, made up of German war veterans. Some of his comrades thought his story about the iron cross doubtful and wrote to Germany for his war record. They learned that Wyttyrk was a soldier, but never won the iron cross. The exposure greatly humiliated Wyttyrk and he shortly left town."

FACT AND FANCY.

BY JEDWIN NEWBAME.

I am surprised that no one has spoken to me concerning my last article in this column. In fact, I fear that my readers do not fully appreciate the inestimable value of having some person, like myself, in the community who is willing at all times to illuminate with the light of the most recent research any problem or question which may present itself for solution. Possibly I am mistaken. It may be that many have questions to ask which they know I cannot answer, not having the volumes of Britannica that treat the subject concerning which they are curious. If this is so, hold your curiosity in check no longer, for by a fortunate circumstance I am in the happy possession of the remaining volumes of the encyclopedia. How I came to own them may be of interest, so I now give this story to the world.

Four days before the last Presidential election I made a bet of ten dollars with a friend that Cleveland would be elected. Since we were, and are, men of honor there was no need of a stakeholder. The following day my friend received a cablegram which caused his immediate departure for Australia on a matter of great financial importance to himself. There being a steamer billed to leave for Melbourne on the day following the receipt of the cablegram he hastily packed his trunk and secured a passage. When he left it was with the expectation that he would be back in the course of three or four months at the outside. Of course neither of us said anything about the bet. I was sad to lose his companionship for even so short a time and he was much worried about his business affairs. I bade him good bye on the deck of the vessel and then hurried to the top of Telegraph Hill that I might thus pay a last tribute of friendship by watching the ship as she bravely steamed out through the Golden Gate. Then offering a silent prayer to God that the voyage might be a safe one and that my friend might soon come back, I slowly returned to my lodging.

The first mail that came from Australia after he landed brought me a letter in which he said that the voyage had been a pleasant one and that he thought it had done him good. His affairs were so complicated that he feared a much longer stay than he had anticipated would be necessary to straighten them out. That evening I answered the letter, telling him such news as would interest him, and of course twitted him about the G. O. P. and Harrison. In a half-jesting mood I told him to invest the ten dollars in mining stock and let it lie till his return home.

From time to time thereafter the mail brought letters from him, but none of them indicated that his business was drawing to a close. Thus time dragged on for a year, two years, when about a month ago I received a letter stating that he was about to start for home. He arrived last Saturday, looking happy and well. I met him at the wharf. In the evening we dined together at the Mason Dore and then went up to my rooms to have a good long talk. He told me much about Australia and the Australians, intelligently discussed the Colonial question and other topics of common interest. Then turning to me he said: "What about yourself and the United States?" The first thing I did, of course, was to tell him that the country was going to wreck and ruin, and that Cleveland was a mighty poor pilot. "That reminds me," he said, and reaching his hand into his breast pocket he brought forth a piece of paper which he handed over to me. "Read that and Cleveland may not appear in so bad a light after all." It was a draft for two hundred and twenty dollars. In astonishment I asked him for an explanation. "Well," he said, "Cleveland was elected so you won the bet. I invested the ten dollars in Victoria Limited when it was down to five dollars a share, and the day before I started home I sold them to a broker for the amount which that draft calls for. Quite a jump, but that's the way they do things in Australia."

Before starting home I visited an old second hand book-seller and completed my set. I don't know what I shall do with the rest of my money—one hundred and seventy dollars. This column must be a success, however, so I think I shall invest the amount in books. Nevertheless, if any of my readers have a better scheme to propose I am ready to listen to arguments.

Saturday evening amid the lurid glare of war, the thundering boom of anvils and the stentorian tones of candidates seeking to become servants of the people, the great political campaign was opened in Sonoma by the Republican party. For miles around every avenue of access trembled to the vibrant tread of approaching steeds. Swinging around the immense beacon that had been lighted on the south side of the Plaza excited throngs gave to the air cheer upon cheer. In one grand swell of sound the cry went up "Estee! Estee! We want Estee." From hill to hill the echo rang until it seemed as if the very ground gave forth the exulting note "Estee! Estee! We want Estee." Human passion was at its highest pitch. The political eagle was screaming. You are mistaken, Jedwin. A scarecrow in a cornfield is enthusiasm personified when compared with the late Republican rally.

The Sonoma House, Harry Fisher proprietor, is a popular resort for commercial travelers.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Schocken keeps the best and cheapest groceries.

The Union Hotel is a first-class house in every respect.

Weyl's is the place to get a bargain in groceries.

The Union Hotel is a resort for families visiting Sonoma.

The Sonoma House is conducted as a first-class hotel by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher.

The best of beef, mutton, pork, veal, sausages, etc., at Weyl's meat market.

Schocken always keeps on hand a complete stock of fresh groceries and dry goods.

The weather has turned out quite cool the past week and indications point to an early winter.

Real estate agent J. T. Peters of San Francisco, accompanied by a party of friends, spent last Wednesday in Sonoma Valley.

The meals to be had at the Sonoma House, now kept by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher, are the best to be had in any hotel north of San Francisco.

The Union Hotel bar, under the supervision of A. A. Enke, will be supplied with the very best of wines, whiskeys and cigars to be had in the market.

For Dry Goods, Clothing, Groceries, Hardware, Cutlery and also everything kept in a general merchandise store go to Schocken's, north side Plaza, Sonoma.

Hall's Hair Renewer is pronounced the best preparation made for thickening the growth of the hair and restoring that which is gray to its original color.

The ball to be held at Union Hall this evening under the auspices of the Swiss National Club of Sonoma promises to be largely attended. The club has engaged one of the best string bands in San Francisco for the occasion.

A grand moonlight social will be given in the Park Pavilion, Glen Ellen, on Saturday evening, October 13th. This will be the last moonlight social of the season at the Park and a large number of young folks will be present.

James Wilson, the well-known painter, occupies the highest position of any person in Sonoma at present. He is putting a new coat of paint on the lofty steeple of the Catholic Church. The church will be repainted white and when completed will be a handsome edifice.

The City Trustees will meet in regular session next Wednesday. The principal subject to come up for discussion will be the building of that jail, which has been so long deferred. For gracious sake, gentlemen, get down to business and do something in the matter.

W. C. Robins, the newly appointed pastor of the M. E. Church, will preach to-morrow at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. The members of the church are respectfully invited to be present at the morning service. The Epworth League will meet promptly at 6:45 P. M. The pastor will be pleased to see a large number present at the evening service. A fifteen-minute praise service will precede the sermon.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. For sale by all dealers.

M. F. Mullen of El Verano visited Sonoma last Sunday and in an interview with the INDEX-TRIBUNE correspondent he informed him that the major-domos of El Verano intend making several improvements in that town in the way of buildings, roads etc., and the prospects are very bright of its becoming one of the leading towns of the county.

It may not be generally known to the outside world, but nevertheless it is a fact patent to every farmer and visitor to Sonoma who enters the incorporated limits with a team, that there is not one solitary watering trough in the town, and if one has to water his steed his only recourse is to visit a neighboring saloon, borrow a bucket and set 'em up for the privilege. About six years ago all the watering troughs belonging to private parties were abolished by a city ordinance, since which time a great deal of travel has been diverted from Sonoma owing to that cause. We would suggest that the Trustees erect on the four streets surrounding the Plaza not only public watering troughs, but hitching posts as well. It will be a great accommodation to farmers and others who have business here and will cause them to come to town more often.

THE TAX LEVY.

The Rate Will be $1.20 for State and County Purposes.

The Board of Supervisors met in special session at Santa Rosa last Monday to fix the tax levy for the year 1894-5. Supervisor Thompson together with the other members were present. After a short discussion it was moved and carried that the rate for State and county purposes be $1.20 on each $100 of valuation as follows: Indigent Fund, .02; Bond Fund, .09; General Fund, .26; School Fund, 13.7; Road Fund, .20. Total rate for county purposes, 70.7; State, 49.3. Total, $1.20. The rate last year was $1.30.

Free Board and Lodging for Ten Days.

Last Sunday three boys, ranging in age from thirteen to eighteen, broke into a house near Kenwood and stole some blankets. They were traced to Sonoma and captured the following day by Constable Chas. Weise of Glen Ellen. Upon being brought before Justice Cheney of this place the three lads pleaded guilty to petty larceny and were sentenced to ten days each in the County Jail. They were taken to Santa Rosa the same evening, the two oldest of the trio wearing the silver-plated cuffs.

El Verano Store Entered by Thieves.

Last Sunday night the grocery store belonging to E. Chambers of El Verano was broken into and robbed by some unknown person or persons. There being no money in the till the midnight burglars contented themselves by getting away with as much of the merchandise stock as possible. The next morning a search was made for the thieves by the officials of that city, which, however, proved in vain, as no clue could be obtained that would lead to the capture of the raiders.

Sporting Notes.

The open season for quail commences next Monday.

Large quantities of catfish and carp have recently been caught at Embarcadero.

Ducks in the marshes bordering Sonoma Creek are very scarce. So far no bags of consequence have been made.

Quail are reported to be more plentiful this season than for a number of years and fine sport is being anticipated by our local nimrods, next week.

Chas. Ohm, the well-known sportsman of Embarcadero, is preparing his fishing tackle in anticipation of a run of salmon after the first heavy rains of the season set in.

Jas. S. Pieratt, F. J. Kerridge and J. J. O'Farrell, the well-known real estate agent of San Francisco, on Sunday last killed two fine bucks in Lovall Valley, a few miles east of Sonoma.

Trout fishing is nearly over for the season. Sonoma Creek, if we except a few of the larger holes, is about fished out. The small streams in the mountains contain a few small fish, but for the most part those streams are dried up.

S. A. Ringstrom and O. R. Rufus of this place and N. Ringstrom and Chas. Tilden of San Francisco will leave Sonoma about the 1st of October for a three week's deer hunt to Mad River, Humboldt county.

The Supreme Court decided this week that the game law protecting deer is unconstitutional. In other words the law is a dead letter and until a new law is passed by the Legislature to take the place of the old law deer can be killed with impunity.

The Senator Jones ranch, at McGill's station, which a few years ago was considered the best all round hunting ground in the State, isn't worth shucks now. A whole day's tramp was made over the ranch one day this week by a privileged hunter and not one solitary living thing in the way of game was seen except a few meadow larks and blackbirds. The cause of this is that there is so much life and bustle on the place, some thirty or forty men being employed in plowing, seeding and herding stock, that the game has all been frightened off.

Brevities.

R. A. McDonell and Wm. Campbell were in Glen Ellen yesterday.

Granville Harris drove a party of picnickers over to Napa last Thursday.

Wm. Mumphy and Wm. Meyer drove up to Glen Ellen Thursday last.

Rev. Tudor Moreton and wife will shortly leave for England, where they will reside permanently. During their brief sojourn in Sonoma Mr. and Mrs. Moreton have made many warm friends who will exceedingly regret their leave-taking.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The Republicans have nominated C. C. Weise and Eugene Robin for Constables of Sonoma Township.

Hon. T. J. Geary will address the people at Union Hall next Saturday evening. Great preparations are being made for the event.

Geo. W. Beatty, the Democratic nominee for Constable of Sonoma Township, attended the rally in this place last Saturday evening.

Jas. W. Gibson of Glen Ellen has been nominated by the Democrats for Justice of the Peace to reside in Glen Ellen. The selection is a good one.

Judge Barham, Republican nominee for Congress, started North Wednesday morning on the tour of this Congressional District. He will be absent about two weeks this trip.

Party lines are almost completely obliterated in Sonoma Township during the present campaign. The successful candidate will be the man who gets in and rustles. Personal popularity will win the day down this way.

J. W. Keegan, the Populist candidate for Assemblyman from this district, is exhibiting surprising strength in this township. Many Republicans and Democrats are outspoken for him because, as they put it, he is a representative man.

J. T. Campbell, the Democratic candidate for Assemblyman from the Seventeenth District, was in town last Tuesday and dropped into our sanctum. Mr. Campbell is a prominent lawyer of Santa Rosa and has already served one term in the State Legislature with marked ability.

Somers B. Fulton, the Republican nominee for County Clerk, was in town several days this week. Mr. Fulton is one of the most popular candidates before the people and he is confident that he will be elected and so are his friends. He is a Native Son, having been born and raised in this county. He is well educated and is in every sense eminently fitted for the office. He was the unanimous choice of the Republican convention, his popularity being so great that he had no opponent in the convention. In his contest for the office two years ago he ran over 400 votes ahead of his ticket and was defeated by only 90 votes.

The Republican meeting held in this place last Saturday evening was well attended, particularly by the ladies. The meeting was addressed by J. C. Holloway, Republican nominee for State Senator, Messrs. Thompson and McKinlay of Santa Rosa and Mr. Staley of Kenwood. The speakers were frequently interrupted with applause. Mr. Holloway made a very favorable impression on our people and as a first impression is said to be a lasting one he will undoubtedly carry the full strength of his party in Sonoma Township and gobble up a few Democratic votes to boot. The campaign songs by the Glee Club of Santa Rosa were heartily encored.

Mrs. F. McG. Martin, "who is going to run independent anyhow," but who ought to have made up her mind to do so before asking a renomination at the hands of the Republican convention, has sent us a marked copy of the Sebastopol Times of September 12th, which intimates that the contest for School Superintendent lies between Prof. Ashjire and herself. Thanks, awfully, madam. But for all that you know you have not a ghost of a show and are simply in the fight to defeat the Republican nominee to get even on him because he stood in your way for a third term. Verily "whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad."

Allen Bryant, who has seceded from the Republican party because it would not nominate him for the third time for County Treasurer, and is running independent to defeat the regular Republican nominee, was in town one day this week. Like the other seceder he will get mighty few votes down this way. Any Republican that would vote for either is simply casting a ballot to disrupt the party in Sonoma county. The INDEX-TRIBUNE is independent, but it does not take any stock in such "independent" candidates, be they Republicans or Democrats. This paper is not afraid to oppose any candidate unworthy of support.

Wine Grapes.

Charles Kohler, of Kohler & Frohling, was in town Monday.

This enterprising firm have determined to run their Windsor and Glen Ellen wineries to their full capacity. Mr. Kohler states that at their Glen Ellen winery they will pay $9 per ton for grapes, with the exception of Mission and Malvoisie grapes, for which latter they will pay $8 per ton. On account of their superior facilities for handling grapes at Glen Ellen they are able to pay the above prices. At Windsor, where the grapes are mostly turned to brandy making, this firm is paying $8 per ton. The terms of payment are one-third cash after delivery, one-third on February 10th, 1895, one-third on May 10, 1895.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

Ostrich plumes grow more and more abundant as the first Autumn models come out. One hat has nine plumes ranging from eight to ten inches in length.

Captain Eliason, well-known in this place, died in Santa Rosa on Thursday last week of old age. Under the Harrison administration he held the office of keeper of the United States Bonded Warehouse at this place and Santa Rosa.

Dorothy, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Duhring, died in San Francisco last Monday of pneumonia. Owing to the illness of the mother the remains were not brought to Sonoma for interment. They have been embalmed and temporarily placed in a receiving vault in one of the city cemeteries. As soon as Mrs. Duhring's health will permit the remains of little Dorothy will be laid beside those of her grandfather, the late F. Duhring, in the family vault in Mountain Cemetery.

Edwin Lord of Embarcadero visited the metropolis last Saturday.

Miss Dora Howe spent last Tuesday and Wednesday in San Francisco.

Geo. Bulotti of the Bay City was in town visiting his parents last Sunday.

J. V. Miner of Glen Ellen made a business trip to San Francisco Saturday last.

Lawyer Robt. Pöppe had business in the Superior Court at Santa Rosa last Monday.

Mrs. Cleveland's daily mail frequently includes 100 letters and rarely less than 60.

The very deep vandyke points that seem to be gaining in popularity are now introduced into the first shoulder capes for Autumn. Below these points are very full accordion plaitings of lace or crepon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Schorr, formerly of this place, but now of San Francisco, who were presented with twin sons a few weeks ago are mourning the loss of one of their little ones, who died in that city last Saturday, aged fourteen days.

When tooth brushes have been discarded from further use in the toilet, do not throw them away, but relegate them to the kitchen, where they will be found useful for a variety of purposes. They are indispensable in cleaning the burners of gasoline stoves and are found handy in cleaning lamp burners. The moderately stiff ones should be kept for this purpose. A very soft one is excellent for cleaning the repossess work on silver.

The bank of France is not entirely free from apprehension regarding the ability of the burglar, and guards itself in a very careful manner. Every day when the money is put into the vaults in the cellar masons are waiting and at once wall up the doors with hydraulic mortar. Water is then turned on and kept running until the cellar is flooded. The burglar would thus have to work in a diving suit and break down a cement wall before he could even start to loot the vaults. When the officers arrive next morning the water is drawn off, the masonry is torn down and the vaults opened.

We know a farmer who told us the other day that the bicycle he bought for his boy had more than paid for itself. That boy thinks farming is not such a bad kind of a life after all. The bicycle had something to do with this opinion.

In 1893 the United States consumed 16,083 gallons of malt liquors for every man, woman and child in its borders. Multiply this by 65,000,000 to find how many gallons it makes and then try to imagine how much of want and hunger and sorrow for women and children it means.

Harvesters, riding plows and sulky cultivators may be found on every farm, but the wash board is about the same kind of a one that our grandmothers used. A good washing machine costs from five to eight dollars, but a wash board can be bought for twenty-five cents. This kind of economy gives a good many men a chance to look for a second wife.

A World's Tribute.

America Leads the Nations in the March of Progress.

Among the wonders of the World's Columbian Fair the grandest was the exhibit of American products. The Exhibition was in this respect, an object lesson of the grandeur and glory of the Republic. Among the exhibits from the United States no article of its glass stood so high as

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

The Chief Chemist of the Agricultural Department at Washington, backed by an intelligent jury at the Exposition, found it strongest in leavening power, peerless in its purity and beyond comparison in uniform excellence.

Received Highest Award At the World's Fair.

The award is a matter of official record. Nothing could settle so decisively the immeasurable superiority of Dr. Price's over all other powders as the great honor bestowed at Chicago.

THE FIRST ENGLISH POEM.

When and Where it Was Written, With the Facts Concerning It.

The first true English poem is the work of Cædmon and is from Northumbria (Northumbria, it should be remembered, meant formerly the whole of England north of the Humber, and it extended beyond the Scottish border), says an English authority. The story of it, as told by Bede, proves that the making of songs was common at the time. Cædmon was a servant to the monastery of Hild, an abbess of royal blood, at Whitby, in Yorkshire. He was somewhat aged when the gift of song came to him, and he knew nothing of the art of verse, so that at the feasts when, for the sake of mirth, all sang in turn he left the table.

One night, having done so, and gone to the stables, for he had the care of the cattle, he fell asleep, and one came to him in a vision and said, "Cædmon, sing me a song." And he answered, "I cannot sing; for this cause I left the feast and came hither." Then said the other, "How ever, you shall sing!" "Sing the beginning of created things!" answered the other. Whereupon he began to sing verse to the praise of God, and, awakening, remembered what he had sung and added more in verse worthy of God.

In the morning he came to the steward and told him of the gift he had received, and being brought to Hild was ordered to tell his dream before learned men, that they might give judgment whence his verses came. And when they had heard they all said that heavenly grace had been conferred on him by our Lord.

The verse of the first poet is not without the stormy note of the scenery among which it was written. In it also the old, fierce war element is felt when Cædmon comes to sing the wrath of the rebel angels with God, and the overthrow of Pharaoh's host, and the lines repeating, as was the old English way, the thought of a second time fall like stroke on stroke in battle. But the poem is religious throughout—Christianity speaks in it simply, sternly, with fire, and brings with it a new world of spiritual romance and feeling. The subjects of the poem were taken from the Bible—in fact, Cædmon paraphrased the history of the Old and the New Testaments. He sang the creation of the world, the history of Israel, the book of Daniel, the whole story of the life of Christ, future judgment, purgatory, hell and heaven. All who heard it thought it divinely given.

"Others after him," said Bede, "tried to make religious poems, but none could vie with him, for he did not learn the art of poetry from men, but from God." It was thus that English song began in religion. The most famous passage of the poem not only illustrates the dark sadness, the fierce love of freedom and the power of painting distinct characters, which has always marked our poetry, but it is also famous for its likeness to a parallel passage in Milton. It is when Cædmon describes the proud and angry cry of Satan against God from his bed of chains in hell. The two great English poets may be brought together over a space of 1,000 years in another way, for both died in such peace that those who watched beside them knew not when they died.

A Good Thing to Keep at Hand.

From the Troy (Kansas) Chief.

Some years ago we were subjected to severe spells of cholera morbus; and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually precede that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhoea, etc., we become scared. We have found Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the very thing to straighten one out in such cases, and always keep it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house. For sale by all dealers.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paragoric, Balsam's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician knows of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Dr. H. Pitcher is on every wrapper.
